New Jersey Organization for a Better State (NEW JOBS) PAC, the State's largest and most influential ideological business political action committee, proudly announced its endorsements today for state Senator Anthony Bucco and Assemblywoman Aura Dunn in the 2020 state special election legislative race in the 25th Legislative District.

"With such trying times for the business community, it is critical to support candidates that express strong support for our state's job creators," Executive Director Chrissy Buteas said. "Senator Bucco and Assemblywoman Dunn have stood with the business community to oppose needless tax increases and excessive borrowing."

The New Jersey Organization for a Better State (NEW JOBS) is a nonpartisan organization whose trustees promote a pro-business climate in New Jersey by endorsing and supporting legislative candidates who actively support economic growth, the creation of private-sector jobs, and the lowering of business costs.

The endorsements made by NEW JOBS are NOT an endorsement from the New Jersey Business and Industry Association (NJBIA) or any other individual company, industry group or trade association. While many organizations like the NJBIA are affiliated with the NEW JOBS PAC, and represented on its Board of Trustees, the PAC is a separate entity.
